

Valued Customers:

At Transtar Industries, our highest priority is maintaining a safe workplace and encouraging practices that protect the health of employees, customers, and visitors. We are actively monitoring the outbreak of the novel SARS-CoV-2 (known as coronavirus) and following expert recommendations, including guidance from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), the World Health Organization (WHO), and local health officials.

Beyond simply monitoring the situation, we have taken proactive measures to ensure our day-to-day operations are conducted in a safe and secure manner.

Environmental and Personnel Safety Measures

Communication and Training

All Transtar employees, from office to warehouse, have been educated on exceeding basic hygiene requirements, which include regularly washing hands, and cleaning frequently touched surfaces.

Business Travel and In-Person Meetings

Transtar has eliminated all international travel and all nonessential domestic travel and postponed in-person meetings to help halt the spread of communicable diseases. Wherever possible, company meetings are being conducted via telephone and video conference.

Seminars and Conferences

Currently, ATSG and ATRA technical seminars are scheduled to continue as normal. Transtar safety procedures call for voluntary and potentially limited employee participation. If seminars dates are changed or postponed, we will notify you. These industry associations are also reviewing other means to provide technical trainings, including online video training, for any seminars that may be disrupted.

Transtar Industries is currently maintaining regular business hours and operations. Every individual across every level of Transtar is committed to the health of our organization and of our customers. If there are any additional updates, we will promptly inform you.

Thank you for your continued business and understanding.
